Foreign Trade Week Features Harbor Tours

Residents of Torrance and Lomita may have free boat rides and harbor tours and witness many features programmed by Southland Junior Chambers of Commerce for Twin Harbors Day, Saturday, May 25, which will climax National Foreign Trade Week.

The celebration and observance which marks the beginning of a new era in world trade will enable thousands of inlanders to get their first postwar view of port commerce following the lifting of all wartime restrictions. Among the featured exhibits will be large new merchant ships at the Port of Long Beach wharves loading cargo for or discharging merchandise and commodities from ports all over the world.

Industrialists from throughout Southern California and foreign diplomatic representatives on Tuesday, May 21, will be guests at an invitational luncheon in a Long Beach Harbor transit shed with that City's Harbor Commissioners as hosts.

WAA Reports First Two Weeks Of Sales

More than 41,000 persons have visited the War Assets Administration, surplus government property sales store at the former Alcoa plant, 190th st. and Normandie ave., during the past two weeks since it has been open for business, a WAA official has announced.

Persons from many states west of the Rockies and even from Mexico have visited the plant during this period, purchasing an estimated $1,000,000 of the stock stored there. The official said that sales had dwindled since the first few days of operation but a steady flow of purchasers is expected to continue as new items are stocked at the center, which will be a permanent central display and sales store.

CEILING SET ON BATHING CAPS BY GOVERNMENT

Retail ceiling prices ranging from 43 to 59 cents have been established for full head-shaped molded bathing caps of natural or buna-S synthetic rubber, the OPA announced recently.

These ceilings are somewhat higher than prices in effect in March 1942 for the same type caps made totally of natural rubber.

These caps have been out of production during the war years but will be back on the market again in time for the summer swimming season.

Actor Graduates In Course To Lend Authenticity

Dana Andrews is now a journeyman soda dispenser and has a diploma to prove it.

To give authenticity to his role in "The Best Years of Our Lives," his next picture for Samuel Goldwyn, he took the fountain training course conducted by a National United-Rexall Drug chain.

His graduation thesis consisted of day's work at one of the busiest Owl Drug Store fountains in Hollywood, a store's throw from Hollywood high school, whose bobby-soxers stormed the establishment when their classes were dismissed.

Somehow word leaked out to the press on what Dana was up to and cameramen from newspapers, magazines and photo syndicates almost outnumbered the customers.

His diploma was presented by Arch Greve, manager of personnel training for the Owl-Sontag Drug chain.

In the picture, to be directed by William Wyler, Dana plays a bomber captain who returns to his home town and his old job of soda dispensing.

SANITARY SEWER

Plans and maps of proposed construction of sanitary sewers and appurtenances and trench resurfacing of the Anaheim Street and Henry Ford Avenue Sewer District were approved this week by the City Council of Los Angeles.

SODA-JERKING MOVIE STAR... Dana Andrews took a course in soda dispensing for a role in "The Best Years of Our Lives," and here is seen receiving his diploma from Arch Greve, manager of personnel training for Owl-Sontag drug stores.

Unemployment Claims Will Be Investigated

The local office of the Department of Employment, 1628 Cuscoma ave., is participating in a statewide campaign inaugurated by the department to stop fraudulent claims for Unemployment Insurance Benefits.

It is recognized that most unemployed persons, when claiming these benefits are legitimately entitled to them; but enough cases have come to light in which benefits were being claimed illegally under fraudulent conditions to warrant the program.

Any information that may be presented to this office which indicates irregularity in the claiming of Unemployment Insurance Benefits, will be given careful attention according to Frederick White, manager of the local Unemployment Insurance section of the Department.

If sufficient evidence is found, legal prosecution will be started. It should be noted that fraudulent certification for Unemployment Insurance Benefits is a misdemeanor under the law and carries a maximum penalty of $500 fine or six months in jail, or both.

vary from 6 months to as low as 1 month in unusual cases. Q. May I be evicted even though it is impossible to find another place? A. Yes. Unfortunately this is not an issue in an eviction case.

Q. My landlord frequently threatens me with eviction and I am kept in a constant state of fear. What are my rights? A. There is no practical way to compel your landlord to cease this practice. However, in most cases he must obtain a certificate from OPA before he can evict you.

Q. How soon will I get my eviction certificate? A. Ordinarily it requires from one to two months to process a petition and issue a certificate. The waiting period starts from date of filing petition. Q. My tenant won't pay his rent. What can I do about it? A. Serve a 3 day notice to pay rent or quit and give OPA a copy within 24 hours. If your tenant does neither, see your attorney.

Q. My tenant is destructive. What recourse have I? A. You may have a ground for eviction under the Rent Regulations. Discuss your problem with an attorney.

Read These Questions And Save A Trip

Some 200 persons a day—tenants and landlords—visit the OPA's rent interviewing section at the district office to have their questions or rent regulations answered. Many of them are put to considerable inconvenience, often coming from out of town. The following questions are the ones most frequently asked, and may save you a trip to the OPA.

LOOK to Greyhound first for

LOCAL CIVIC INTEREST

Greyhound has grown steadily with the cities along the Coast Highway.

Greyhound folks and their families work, play and live in your communities...are neighbors and friends of yours. Naturally, therefore, Greyhound is intensely interested in every form of local civic welfare and continued progress of the cities and towns of which it is a part. It is proud of the vigorous role its people have performed in helping to build and strengthen Coast Highway cities with first-class motor transportation.

In providing this vital community service Greyhound has led the way...all the way. This clear-cut leadership in modern bus transportation can only be explained by the fact that Greyhound has always acted; and will continue to act, on the principle that what is good for your community is good for Greyhound.
